Wednesday, March 14. 1716.

London, March 14.

The Right Honourable the Lord Parker, Baron of Macclesfield in the County of Cheshire, was introduced into the House of Peers. The Preamble of his Lordship's Petition is as follows.

Non quidem ad boni principis officium nihil magis pertinet quam ut amplissimas Reipublice dignitates variis de patriâ optime meritis impetrant, prædilectum et perquam amicum nostrum Thomam Parkerum militem Consulem in Banco Regis Justiciarum præcerum camera adscribi volumus, qui in huiusmodi studio uis est quo plures in eorum positione sunt, ut illi sua opera visui sibi acquiritur nisi. Egregiam hanc operam Civis nostræ Regitationis nostræ vincendum duximus, ne illi curæ Patricia argenti duntaxat se retrahere publico Verendum. Præclaris quibus animi dotes et omnimoda tam rerum quam ingenii pericia, quæ ut visum in otio elegantius et ad usum et possit et multo efficacius, quo minus ita se in huiusmodi impendunt. Satisnam in Senatu, summi in Foro laudem sibi comparavit. Gravissimum Holst militis, Capitalis in Banco Regis Justiciarum constitutus est, utpote qui tanti muneris rite justineret, tanti viri laudare. Deside-

rium. Ibi, difficilioribus temporibus, cum ius nostrum in Regni huiusce Successionem periclitaretur, Domus nostra adeoque populi Britannici causam strenue promovit, majori Fortitudine ac Justitia incertum; æquique ne impune Leges partibus nostris faventes impugnaretur mali, non cum periculo boni vindicaret. Nec majorem Officii Auctoritate in negotiis publicis Reverentiam, quam morum suavitatis in quotidianâ vite consuetudine omnium sibi Gratiam conciliavit. Fœderis meritis habendus, cui ista contigerit animi Equabilitas, quæ sicuti Cœrem maxime exornat, ita in primis commendat Indidem. Neque ea quæ inter mortalium laudes præcipuum locum obtinet, et quæ illum sibi nobisque pariter reddit acceptiorem silentio prætereunda est, sincera erga Deum pietas, singulari erga homines benevolentia conjuncta. Hunc talem virum, ut litibus inserit, supremo Foro dirimendis iudice integerrimo; ac in Legibus ferendis eodem loco versetur, quo in explicandis sepe sibi gloriam adeptus est; Optimatum nostrorum Ordini admodum curavimus. Sciat igitur, &c.

In English.

It is the Duty of a Good Prince to confer the highest Dignities of the State upon those who have done the most eminent Services to their Country. We have determined to advance to the Degree of Peerage Our beloved and faithful Counsellor Sir Thomas Parker, Knt. Chief Justice of the King's Bench; who has hitherto industriously declined Honours, as others are wont to solicit them; and had no part in the Acquisition of a Title, or deserving it. This Modesty of so good a Man, however Commendable in itself, We have thought fit to over-rule by Our express Command, that it should no longer withhold him from the important Services of the House of Peers, nor continue to be indulged to the Prejudice of the Publick. His eminent Endowments of Mind, with his extensive Knowledge and Learning, which have put it in his Power and his Will to pass his Time in the Pleasures of elegant and retired Life, have been the very Means which have hindered his doing so. Now having arrived at the highest Reputation as a Lawyer and Senator, he was, upon the Death of that valuable Person Sir John Holt, appointed Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench, one fully qualified to support the Dignity of so weighty a Charge, and to alleviate the Loss of so great a Man. In that Station, at a Juncture when Our Succession to this Crown was most endangered, he promoted the Cause of Our Family, and therein of the British Nation, with equal Justice and Fortitude; and took effectual Care that it should not be safe for ill Men to attack those Laws which were made in Our Behalf, nor dangerous for Good Men to defend them. If he has made himself Venerable by the Authority of his Office in Publick Affairs, he has made himself no less Amiable by the Sweetness of his Behaviour in all the ordinary and familiar Intercourses of Life; being blessed with that Evenness of Temper, which as it adorns the private Man, so it in a peculiar Manner recommends the Judge. Nor must We omit that which is the greatest of all human Praises, and which renders him more acceptable both to himself and Us, a sincere Piety towards God, joined with an exemplary Benevolence towards Men. A Person of this Character We have thought fit to make a Peer of Our Realm; that a Judge, who has so long acted with the greatest Integrity, may have a Voice in that Court which is the last Resource of Justice, and share in the Making of Laws, where he has so often gained himself a Reputation in the Explaining of them.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 10. 1716, Feb. 25. The Marquis de Mouroux who resided in this Court ever since December 1713. Ambassador in Ordinary from the King of Sicily, and at last on the 20th Instant, his Publick Audience of their Majesties, the Prince of Asturias, and the Infanta's, being conducted by the Marquis de Alameda, with great Solemnity and Honour.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 17. 1716, Feb. 24. The King has, upon the Remonstrance of his Ministers, put off to another time the design he had resolved to make to divers Courts of Justice. The Tribunal of the Inquisition being attended at Evora, condemned to Death 60 persons, and for Judaism; and the same College is so abundant here to judges in like Manner many other cases caused of Hereby.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 11. 1716, March 7. The Deputies of the several Provinces of the Austrian Netherlands have had an audience of the Emperor, but successively not together. Those of Brabant went first, and the Bishop of Arras having made a handsome Speech, presented to his Imperial Majesty a Writing, wherein their submissive Complaints were set forth. Two Days ago those of Flanders were introduced to his Imperial Majesty, and the Heer Philip Everhard vander Noot Count of Everghem and Bishop of Ghent, made an Oration, and in like Manner presented the Address of the States their Principals. The Emperor received them all very graciously, and they had the honour to kiss his hand; his said he answered, That the States of the said Provinces should find that he was the Interest of the Austrian Netherlands always at heart. The Preparations for the Empress's Lying-in are very great: The Bed that is made for that purpose is the finest that has been seen, 60 Men having been at Work upon it ever since the beginning of October. The Countess of Grabenhagen the Empress's Mother, is expected here by the 10th Instant. 'Tis talked that Count Thaur will be continued Viceroy of Naples three Years longer, but he must in the present Circumstance, raise 100000 Scudi for carrying on the War against the Turks. 'Tis said also that Count Gallasch will have the Government of Milan, to make him amends for the great Expence he has been at in his Embassy to Rome.

Edinburgh, March 6. Letters from Ellick give an Account, that Lieutenant-General Cadogan was arrived there, on his Way hither: That Orders had been sent to Major-General Wightman, for the immediate disarming of the Marquis of Huntley's and Earl of Seaforth's Men, and all the Rebels Clans who are within Reach of the Garrison of Inverness, and for apprehending their Chieftains. Directions were also sent to Major-General Sabine who Commands at Perth, to disarm Bradalbin's and Drummond's Men; and such of the Duke of Athol's who have been in Rebellion, and to secure the Gentlemen and Hereticks. A Detachment having been ordered from Aberdeen into the Braes of Mar, the Common People who had been in Rebellion brought in their Arms, and submitted to Mercy. A considerable Detachment will forthwith be sent to Fort-William, in order to the disarming of the Western Clans, the Principal of which are those of Lochills, Glenary, Clan Renald, and Mackdonald. Which done, the Peace and Tranquility of Scotland will be perfectly secured. We have a Report that the Marquis of Huntley and Lord Rollo have surrendered themselves at Inverness, and that the Earl of Bradalbin has surrendered himself to Colonel Campbell of Farnham.
